INNOVATION AND CHANGE IN CONSTRUCTION LAW

A review of recent developments and a perspective on developing trends

Thursday 11 March 2004 – Cedar Court Hotel, Wakefield (Junction 39, M1)

INTRODUCTION

The extent of change over the last decade is well documented in sector reports such as Latham and Egan. This need for innovation and change has been supported through various forums by the move towards less adversarial relationships and the developments of alternative contractual and dispute resolution approaches.

Some of the leading figures in the industry will provide a helpful review of recent developments in construction law, identifying trends and how they might develop in the future.

Who Should Attend

Contractors, sub-contractors, quantity surveyors, project managers, developers, property owners, banks, funders, tenants, government departments, public bodies, local authorities, health trusts, schools, universities, airports, multi-national corporations, trade associations, architects, engineers, process engineers, chemical and oil companies, insurers, brokers, underwriters, receivers, building surveyors and construction surveyors.

The Speakers

Professor HH Judge Humphrey LLoyd QC)
Paul Darling QC)
Fiona Hammond)
Peter Hibberd)
